.....Emotions are inherently difficult to explicate. How does one describe fear? We know it when we feel it but how can we share, through the paltry use of language, our experience of it? Moving images,mostly embellished with sound, extend the expressive possibilities beyond what can be accomplishedthrough language or even static imagery. By employing the largest palette of creative possibilities, filmand video artists from around the world strive to externalize those complex driving forces that we allenjoy and endure and that bind us, as humanity, together despite our differences.....
